CinemaScope. Theaters have started using 70mm film prints in their releases ever since the 50's. Although there were earlier attempts at larger formats, the 70mm projector offers about ten times the picture size of current 35 mm movie projectors. It also has larger "black bars" on either side of the picture. A Cinerama 70mm cinema has a total width of over 57 ft (17 m). The film medium itself, instead of the usual 35mm, is 140 ft long (42 m) - nearly twice as long as a Cinerama screen. The 70mm film is said to have a resolution of 508 lines, with a full 1.35:1 "scope", versus the usual 525 lines (1.37:1) in a typical theatrical image. The Cinerama 70mm prints were shown with four projectors in the theater - two on the left and two on the right, approximately three times more than in a standard theater. Katara : [opening narration] Water... Earth... Fire... Air. Long ago, the four nations lived together in harmony. Then everything changed when the Fire Nation attacked. Only the Avatar, master of all four elements, could stop them. But when the world needed him most, he vanished. A hundred years passed and my brother and I discovered the new Avatar, an airbender named Aang. Filerfestivalen sub-directory under Movie category.
